Purpose

This policy explains the types of leave available to employees, the normal approval process, and the responsibilities of employees and managers.

Annual Leave

Employees receive 20 days of annual leave during each calendar year. Annual leave is intended for planned personal time, vacation, and other non-medical purposes. Employees should normally submit a request at least 3 working days before the planned start date.

Sick Leave

Employees may take up to 10 days of sick leave in a calendar year. Sick leave should be used when an employee is unable to work because of illness or a medical appointment. A medical certificate may be requested when an absence continues for more than 2 consecutive working days.

Casual Leave

Employees may take up to 6 days of casual leave during the year for short personal requirements. Casual leave should normally be requested before the absence and must be approved by the reporting manager.

Public Holidays

Public holidays are handled according to the company's published holiday calendar. A public holiday does not normally reduce the employee's annual leave balance.

Leave Approval

Employees must submit leave requests through the employee portal. The reporting manager reviews the request based on business requirements and available leave balance. Approval should be obtained before planned leave begins.

Emergency Leave

For an unexpected illness or emergency, the employee should inform the manager as soon as reasonably possible. The formal leave request should be completed after the immediate situation is handled.

Cancellation

If approved leave is no longer required, the employee should cancel the request in the employee portal so that the leave balance can be corrected.
